RMSI donates to Children's Hospital in Kabul

RMSI, a Dubai-based medical solutions company, distributed toys and lifted the spirits of children at the poverty-stricken Indira Gandhi Children's Hospital in Kabul, Afghanistan.

In addition to the toys, vital medical equipment and supplies were donated to the hospital and money was given to the children's families to enable treatments to continue.

Commenting on the recent trip, RMSI CEO, Rob Lamb, the instigator of all of the company's CSR activities said, 'We come here to give back to the community in which we operate and hopefully lift spirits while doing so. However the situation here is truly dire. The doctors and nurses at the hospital must be applauded for their courage and ability to make the impossible possible on a daily basis. They are the hero's for these innocent children that are the victims in these war struck hostile areas.'

The donation formed part of a routine operation by RMSI, which specializes in providing world-class medical care and services to hostile areas across the region. The fully integrated nature of RMSI's services means its teams are able to reach people in places most wouldn't dare to go.

Since Afghanistan is one of the territories in which the company operates, the team is no stranger to the challenges the local medical institutes face. RMSI has more hospital trips planned in the cities and villages where they operate throughout 2012.

RMSI brings world-class medical care and medical services into hostile territories worldwide where war or conflict has created an unstable environment. Headquartered in Dubai, RMSI has operations in countries across the entire Middle East and North Africa region. RMSI is the exclusive alliance partner in hostile territories of International SOS - the world's largest integrated medical assistance company. As an alliance partner, RMSI is the exclusive agency appointed to manage operations in hostile environments.
